

Unit One / Reading +

My Resolution قراري هذه السنة

This year, my resolution is to get a high grade in Tawjehe. It is our final year at school, and all students try their best to get good grades in order to study what they want at university.

This most important thing to achieve this goal is to manage your time effectively. I have divided my day into three parts: time to study, time to eat and time to sleep. Moreover, I choose the best time on the day to study when my brain is clear and focused, and that time for me is early in the morning.

In each plan, there is always something that could go wrong, so it is good to think negative and prepare yourself for the worst. In my situation, I have kept a day, which is Friday, as a spare day. Therefore, if I run out of time, I can always use that day.

With this great plan, I think I have a 90% chance that I will probably achieve my goal and get the grade I want.

2. "Money never made a man happy yet, nor will it. There is nothing in its nature to produce happiness." Do you agree with this statement? Why or why not? Use specific reasons and examples to support your position.

A. "If poverty makes us miserable, it stands to reason that wealth makes life worth living. But does it? Psychologists aren't so sure "

Do you agree with this statement? Why or why not? Explain your point of view supporting it with examples.

Unit 4 / Reading Plus = Money and Happiness

T. Nimer Nassar

Money and happiness are definitely two different things. This is a controversial statement for many people because when you ask some people about what makes them happy, they directly say: money! In my opinion, I don't think that money is the main reason for happiness and I will support this idea.

First of all, we are not here in life just to get money. Allah created us to obey Him and that is the highest purpose. Secondly, I don't say that money is not important because it is. We need money to live appropriately. Food, clothes, house, medicine and many other things are all based on money. However, once you have achieved your dream, you will realise that money is not everything. Finally, how many rich people in the world suffering dangerous diseases? Can money buy a person more years to live?

In conclusion, happiness in life needs various reasons, and sometimes simple things can cause happiness. On the other hand, we don't underestimate the value of money as it makes life more comfortable.
